

In an effort to address the twin challenges of water security and climate change, the African Ministers Council on Water launched